EDITOR

Hello comic fan. I see that you have picked up this, the 278th issue of my ever evolving comic. This is a special time for us here at skeleton boy comics because it was exactly 100 issues ago (issue 178) that Fred the fireman was introduced. Though Fred has disappeared from recent issues, we realize that he was a beloved character by millions of people so it is only fair that we do something to celebrate the anniversary of his birth. We personally never really liked Fred so what we are doing is holding an auction for the rights. Whoever writes in the highest bid will get all rights related to the character and will get to exploit his name for profit. enjoy, Ed
